CERTIFICATE PROGRAM IN DIRECT INDIRECT TAX

REPORT

The “Certificate Program in direct Indirect Tax” has been successfully completed by department of B.com (Accountancy & Finance) of Chandrabhan Sharma College in collaboration with Financial Planning Academy. The certificate program in direct and indirect tax had enabled students with a comprehensive understanding of tax principles, regulations, and compliance. The coursework was divided into two modules: Module A focused on direct tax, covering income tax, corporate tax, wealth tax, and taxation of special entities. Module B covered indirect tax aspects, including GST, VAT, customs duty, and other indirect taxes. By completing this program, students were able to alleviate the necessary knowledge and skills to navigate the complexities of the tax landscape and make informed decisions in their professional careers.

The prime motive of the course work was to provide necessary insightful information on taxation aspects which would enable students to develop better understanding on the tax landscape.

In total 45 students benefitted from the 30 hours course work.

Outcome:-

Comprehensive knowledge of tax laws: Participants gain a thorough understanding of the legal frameworks and regulations governing direct and indirect taxes. They become familiar with the various provisions and sections of tax laws and how they apply in different scenarios.

Syllabus:-

PDO (PHP Data Objects): This module allows PHP to access and manipulate databases, and is essential for building dynamic web applications that store and retrieve data.

OpenSSL: This module provides encryption and decryption capabilities, as well as support for SSL/TLS connections, making it an important tool for secure communication over the internet.

GD (Graphics Draw): This module enables PHP to create and manipulate images, including resizing, cropping, and adding text and other elements. It's commonly used in web development for creating graphics and logos.

cURL: This module provides an easy way to interact with remote servers and services, allowing PHP scripts to fetch data, send emails, and perform other tasks over the internet.

XML: This module provides tools for parsing and generating XML documents, which are commonly used for data interchange and web services.

JSON: This module provides tools for parsing and generating JSON documents, which are commonly used for data interchange and web services.

Zip: This module allows PHP to create and extract ZIP archives, making it useful for file compression and management.

Session: This module provides a way to store and retrieve data across multiple requests from the same user, making it essential for building web applications with user authentication and personalization.

NumPy: This module provides tools for working with arrays and matrices, making it essential for scientific computing, data analysis, and machine learning.

Pandas: This module provides tools for data manipulation, analysis, and visualization, making it essential for data science and analysis.

Matplotlib: This module provides tools for creating data visualizations, including plots, charts, and graphs.

Flask: This module provides a lightweight framework for building web applications, making it ideal for small to medium-sized projects.

Django: This module provides a more robust framework for building web applications, with support for more advanced features such as authentication, administration, and content management.

Course Title: Commercial Banking Program

Purpose: This module aims at familiarizing and providing students with the fundamentals of banking, basic insights into the policies and practices followed in the Indian banking system and detailed knowledge of products and services offered under Retail Banking. The training is delivered keeping in mind both the theoretical as well as practical aspects which eventually results in students being well prepared for various career opportunities with the Indian banks. During the training the students will be required to submit a project. The topics will include all sort of products that the banks offer to their customers through the Retail Banking Channel like different deposit products and different kind of loan products. They will be asked to visit bank branches (subject to their safety & security) or bank websites. They will have to collect information, put it on a PPT and present. The students will also have to do comparative analysis of different products being offered by the banks. We would also ask them to collect application forms, etc. from the bank branches and get them to learn how to fill the forms without any errors.

Course Outcome:

After completing this workshop, students will have:
