E-National Conference

Rural Banking & Agriculture Finance in India

25th January 2023

Ogranised By

Chandrabhan Sharma College of Arts, Science and Commerce

Powai Vihar, Powai, Mumbai-400076

About the College:

Chandrabhan Sharma College of Arts, Science and Commerce was started in 2004 to serve the ever-growing need for higher education in the vicinity of Powai. The degree college started in 2008 is affiliated to the University of Mumbai and offers various professional courses like B.M.S, B.M.M , BSc. IT, etc. The College got affiliation from YCMOU in 2015 and conducts courses like BCA, BIS etc.

The first successful batch of graduates passed out in the year 2011. The college had a very modest beginning with around 100 students, but with the vision of the Trustees, the Principal and a team of qualified and dedicated staff members it has grown to strength of 2000+ students. The college lays emphasis on building values, nurturing talent and developing the intellectual faculty of the students.

Concept Note:

Finance is regarded to be one of the riskiest industries since it requires a large amount of money at every level, and good planning is necessary to generate that money as well. Financing agriculture requires long-term planning, and the Indian banking industry strongly encourages agricultural financing, which allows farmers to perform tasks efficiently without any hindrances. Agricultural finance was examined at both the micro and macro levels. The Regional Rural Banks (RRBs) were established in 1975 under the provisions of the Ordinance promulgated on 26th September, 1975 and Regional Rural Banks Act, 1976 with a view to developing the rural economy by providing, for the purpose of development of agriculture, trade, commerce, industry and other productive activities in the rural areas, credit and other facilities, particularly to small and marginal farmers, agricultural labourers, artisans and small entrepreneurs, and for matters connected therewith and incidental thereto. Rural banking refers to providing banking services to individuals living in rural areas. Rural banking has become integral to the Indian financial markets with a majority of Indian population still living in rural or semi-urban areas. It reduces rural and urban gap by mobilizing financial resources and services to rural regions. Regional Rural Banks pave the way for inclusion of the marginal population like small farmers, Below Poverty Line (BPL) farmers and workers, small entrepreneurs, artisans, women, etc. The RRBs were established “with a view to developing the rural economy by providing, for the purpose of development of agriculture, trade, commerce, industry and other productive activities in the rural areas, credit and other facilities, particularly to small and marginal farmers, agricultural labourers, artisans and small entrepreneurs, and for matters connected therewith and incidental thereto”. The genesis of the Regional Rural Banks may be traced for the need for a stronger institutional arrangement for providing rural credit. The institution of Regional Rural Banks (RRBs) was created to meet the excess demand for institutional credit in the rural areas, particularly among the economically and socially marginalized sections. This E-National Conference will help the undergraduate and post graduate students to understand the progress and growth of rural banking in India in terms of agriculture finance.

Objectives of the E-Conference

- 1. To understand the concept of Rural Banking.
- 2. To highlight the role of RBI in Rural Credit & Agriculture Finance.
